Dear Anita,

I hope you are well.

As you probably know, I am acting in person as I no longer have the funds to pay for my legal costs. I attach the email sent yesterday with the notice of acting in person. I would be most grateful if you could please pass this on to His Lordship as this is an urgent matter which is material to the case.

With my kind wishes,
Nadia

=====

Your Lordship,

This is not an application to reopen the evidence.

I am not introducing any new evidence. I am also acting in person as no amount of money can be enough to pay for the extraordinary amount of work necessitated to untangle the respondent's transactions, disclosures, statements and etc.

I would like to draw the Court's attention to the false representations the respondent made under oath with regards to Oxus Acquisition Corp. during the Final Hearing.

The trial started on 19th February 2024. On that day, the respondent knew that the Business Combination had been consummated on 7th February 2024. The Business Combination date is crucial as it is the trigger for the respondent's 50,000 shares to become valuable.

The value of his Oxus shares is binary: it is zero if there is no Business Combination and it is marked-to-market starting on the exact day the Business Combination is effective, which was 7th February 2024, 10 days before the trial started.

Therefore, the respondent should have assigned a value of approximately $500,000 to the Oxus shares on ES2 starting on the 7th February 2024 and he should not have instructed his counsel to state that the "Oxus shares are worth nothing". In fact, he should have replaced Oxus shares with BRLS shares and he should have disclosed the number of BRLS shares he now owns given the exchange rate and the redemptions. Furthermore, the respondent has never told the Court how many warrants he received.

When he appeared before Your Lordship on 19th February 2024, the respondent knew that the Business Combination had been consummated on 7th February 2024 and he knew that on 8th February 2024, the newly merged company began trading on Nasdaq under the ticker symbol BRLS. Oxus was retired from Nasdaq on that day.

He assigned a value of zero to the shares on his ES2 schedule dated 19th February 2024. This is an intentional false representation. It is absolutely false and dishonest.

He told the Court that his Oxus shares were “worth nothing”. This is a false representation, and this is dishonest.

In summary, during the Final Hearing before Your Lordship, the respondent intentionally misled the Court and me, he made false representations to the Court under oath, he mismarked his ES2 schedule, and he instructed his counsel to make factually incorrect statements in her submissions.

I attach a comprehensive review of what the respondent did, what he knew, when he knew it, and what he told the Court.

As a director of Oxus, the respondent signed the SEC filings of January and February 2024, so he cannot say that he was “overwhelmed” and “stressed”.

My previous solicitors emailed the respondent’s solicitors on 29th February 2024 requesting an explanation. I have not received a reply.

Your Lordship, I would like to say one more time that there is no new evidence in the attached statement. My only objective is to bring this to your attention as it is very material to my case. The statement is simply a reconstruction of the respondent’s tortuous and deceitful acts and how they fail to stand up to scrutiny.

Respectfully,

Nadia Zahmoul
